La Petite France Bakery to support March of Dimes

For the second year, the Palmer family of Mansfield has formed a family team for the March of Dimes March for Babies, an organization dedicated to research to improve the health of prematurely born babies. This year, in addition to the help of friends and family, they will be supported by a local business, La Petite France Bakery in Stafford Springs. La Petite France has been producing authentic French breads, pastries, and desserts for more than 25 years.

To show their support for the Palmers and the March for Dimes, owners Roméo Litor and Alexandra Litor-Li have pledged 10 percent of the bakery's revenues during the week of April 14, 2008, to the team Casey's Crusaders. As the parents of a 2-year-old girl, Roméo and Alexandra are proponents of the organization and those in the community who are involved.
